PCHA officials argue against Rep. Pilch's bill

By PAM WATT Daily Eagle Staff Writer

According to State Rep. Alex Pilch (D-32nd), his proposed bill to allow Peoples Community Hospital authority (PCHA) members to resign does only one thing - gives the voters their democratic right to cast a ballot on a matter which affects

But hospital authority members argued Friday in a public hearing on the bill that if passed, it poses a direct threat to the stability of not only the PCHA but all other hospital authorities in Michigan.

The hearing, chaired by State Sen. William D. Faust (D-Westland), heard Dearborn Heights representatives argue for the bill, while PCHA officials and members of two other hospital authorities represented their sides opposing the measure. Also attending the hearing besides Pilch and Faust were State Sen. David Plawecki (D-12th) and State Sen. Arthur Cartwright (D-5th)

The hearing was conducted under the auspices of the Senate's Municipalities and Elections Code Committee, which will listen to tapes of the hearing and come up with a recommendation for the bill to take to the entire Senate body The House has already passed the bill, which would allow

Sabo, whose 24th district encompasses, Wayne, part of Westland, Belleville, Romulus and Van Buren and Sumpter townships, has been a strong opponent of the manner in which the $126 million stadium bond issue is being financed.

Thursday's House action moved the stadium closer toward being a reality, since the bill will supply about $2.5 million for the Detroit stadium. Another $800,000 will go toward another proposed stadium 30 miles away in Oakland County.

The bill, which barely made it through the House, the track increases percentage of thoroughbred horse race betting to raise a $3.3 million fund for state support of stadium development.

Provision of state racing revenues for the Pontiac area development was shoehorned into the bill at the last minute in an effort to broaden its

The State's share, slightly more than half, amounts to an estimated $20.6 million for the fiscal year ended last June. For the current year, it is expected to jump to about $24-$26 million.

Most of the money, a maximum of $2.5 million, would go to the Detroit stadium under a formula giving its building authority 20 per cent of one half of one per cent of the proposed commission increase.

A companion tax measure, now in Senate committee after earlier House passage, would levy a 5 per cent accommodations tax on Detroit and Wayne County hotels and motels.

That would raise some $2 million annually, producing a

> Commissioner Sabo, who has fought against the method the county is using to support the project, indicated he was extremely unhappy with the House passage.

> "I think it's terrible. They don't mention you have to come up with $9 million in the taxpayers' money," he said. The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has pledged its full faith and credit behind the project, in effect saying the county will pick up any members of a hospital authority with more than 20 members to withdraw upon a vote of the electorate.

> Supporters claim $9 million be expected from attendance and concessions, which, with the $4.5 million from hotel tax and racing revenues, is supposed to be enough in their estimation to finance the stadium annually.

Dearborn Heights Mayor John Canfield argued that his community should not be forced to pay the $106,000 it is currently assessed annually just because of a pact made back in 1945. He said he felt the people should be allowed the determine whether or not they want remain in the authority.

"It's not far that 10,000 people way back when can determine the future of a city," he said, contending that the $106,000 "would put five policemen on the streets. Canfield said he wasn't even sure the city would want to pull out of the PCHA, but pointed out that if it did happen, Dearborn Heights would still be required to pay past debts it is already

Dearborn Heights Councilman Earl Caldwell presented statistics stating that for the first 11 months of the 1967-68 fiscal year, his city has 859 in-patient admissions, or 1.07 per cent of the 1970 population, compared to Garden City's 3.06 per cent, Westland's 3.3 per cent, Inkster's 4.97 per cent and Wayne's 7.9 per cent.

He said that although the city's population has increased by about 25 per cent in the last six years and its assessment to the PCHA almost doubled, Dearborn Heights citizens did not use the PCHA hospitals any more in 1967 than they did in

According to Caldwell, residents most often went to Oakwood, mount Carmel and Garden City Osteopathic hospitals. Caldwell admitted that it was "possible" residents might use the Taylor facility, which the PCHA hopes to have open around 1974, but said most of the residents' choice of hospitals rests with their doctors.

Dearborn Heights Councilman Leo Foran, however, expressed doubts on whether or not Dearborn Heights would be better off withdrawing, questioning what would happen to the nearly $2.5 million the city has already paid to the PCHA over the past six years.

Opposing the bill was Horace Adams, secretary of the Lakeview Hospital Authority. Adams contended that there was nothing wrong with the present method of allowing members to withdraw, which requires two-thirds approval of authority members before a community can leave

He pointed out that although the PCHA is the only authority out of the state's eight which has more than 20 members, it could be "no time at all before someone will take off all the limitations," thereby allowing members of any sized authority to withdraw.

He charged that withdrawl of members could "perilize whatever service we're now rendering.'

Councilman Mrs. Justine Barnes of Westland, a PCHA representative, said she felt "anything to jeopardize a facility and weaken it is bad," pointing out unlike nonmembers, residents of member communities can call their representatives anytime to complain or ask questions.

You can't do that with Wayne county General Hospita!," she said. In answer to Pilch, Mrs. Barnes said she did not know how she would vote if a member requested withdrawal, adding she would have to judge it on the individual merits.

Rev. Kurt Heidmann, Wayne councilman and PCHA representative, charged that the bill allowed communities to be relieved of their responsibilities while at the same time still letting them make use of CHA facilities and enjoying all the privileges of member communities.

Donald Pizzimenti, PCHA chairman, admitted he felt the authority "hasn't met the needs of Dearborn Heights as effectively as other communities," but pointed out the new Taylor facility would be located near Dearborn Heights, hopefully giving that city more use than it is currently receiving from the authority.

Pizzimenti outlined the four major reasons the PCHA is opposed to the bill. He said the were:

Discrimination 8 The bill only applied to hospital authorities with more than 20 members and the PCHA is the only one with that many.

2. The bill was undemocratic, since it denies other member communities of the right to vote on a withdrawal, a right they exercise when a request to join is made.

3. The present law allows a members to withdraw already

(with the authority's two-thirds approval).

4. The bill affects the stability of all authorities, since, if a principle is established pertaining to hospital authorities, all other authorities such as sewer, water, port operations and recreation, could also be jeopardized.

Rep. Pilch maintained that the bill is no way changes anything, but merely gives the people the right to have a voice in their own affairs. He said that fears of a mass exodus from the authority were unfounded, since no one could recall a community ever requesting to withdraw

Although no community ever has applied to withdraw Mayor Canfield said Friday Dearborn Heights has not taken such action because the city feels it would be a futile effort. Canfield also said he was not entirely sure he wanted the city

"It's surprising to me that there's so much resistance to letting people vote on an issue - there's too much movement to remove that voice," Pilch stated.

Pilch charged that hospital authority officials have "objected to every single loosening of the noose' ' in the five years in which bills to allow withdrawal have been around. Pilch contended that the authority "must be pretty shaky if the withdrawl of one member would jeopardize it.

Sen. Cartwright, however, said that before he would approve the bill, someone would have to "show me the health care of these people is not going to be impaired" by with-

With few exceptions, the 16 area representatives to the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) board of directors can be held in high esteem for their devotion

However, when that duty is the responsibility for running a nearly $35 million quasi-public operation — which the PCHA is — such devotion isn't just praiseworthy, it's

We have found that, since Nov. 20, 1969, four of the representatives from areas served by The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers, Inc. have perfect records. They include Ken Murray of Westland, who has attended all 31 meetings during that time; Rev. Kurt Heidmann of Wayne, who has an 11-for-11 record since joining the board; Rev. It can be noted from the above figures that none of the area representatives mentioned so far have attended fewer than two-thirds of the PCHA board meetings.

We feel that it is difficult for a director, having any less of an attendance record, to serve his constituents' interests properly. Which is why we have to question the attendance records of Elmer Parraghi of Sumpter (4 of 9 meetings) and Terry Troutt of Romulus (3 of 31 meetings).

In Troutt's case, we feel the City of Romulus, whose tax assessment to PCHA was $53,507.83, is being cheated to such an extent that the Romulus City Council should either demand that he start attending meetings on a regular basis or remove him from the board.

Belleville reader cites 'busing' officials

It was with interest that I listened to Mrs. Marilyn Kelly, a member of the State Board of Education, debate busing of school children with Irene McCabe, head of NAG (National Action Group) recently.

Mrs. Kelly, I have come across some rather curious facts that I think the public should know about.

Mr. Harold Howe II, former U.S. education commissioner, one of the most aggressive voices in favor of busing children to achieve integration, has bused his own son out of Washington D.C. school to private Taft School in Watertown, Conn., where the tuition costs him $2,750 a year.

Sen. George McGovern (D-South Dakota), has two children he sends across the district line into Maryland public schools paying $1,014 annual tuition each.

Also sending their children to private schools is Negro Marshall, Hobson, ablack militar, of the Washington D. C. schools and James Forman, a recently resigned Negro assistant secretary in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). Apparently these people feel that busing for racial balance to troublesome high schools is not for them, but only for Americans below their social level who are not as well

Mrs. Kelly, it is easy for you to endorse busing to troublesome schools in Detroit because you do not have any children to worry about.

One of the most important bills signed into law this fall was the one that reduces the blood alcohol intoxication presumption level in drunk driving cases from .15 to .10 per cent.

This was one of a number of bills just signed by the Governor. It attempts to deal with twin problems of alcohol and traffic safety. Hopefully, it will get more drinking Dec. 15, 1970 - Wayne's drivers off the road and reduce the traffic toll of alcohol-related deaths and Although Michigan has the last few years, annual fatalities still exceed 2,000 lives. More than half of that number are alcohol-related.

The Blood-alcohol test is related to Michigan's implied consent law. This law says in effect that when a person is issued a driver's license and uses a motor vehicle automatically agrees to take a chemical test to determine his sobriety if he is arrested and charged with being under the influence while driving. If the motorist refuses to take the driver's license. The test determines the amount of alcohol in a person's blood stream. The least inconvenient and troublesome test is the breath test used in Michigan. It is administered by having the driver blow into a device alled breathalyzer, which determines the amount of test, he faces loss of his influence. A level of .10 to .15 percent was a presumption of impaired driving ability, which is a lesser offense. The new statute lo lowers the drunk driving level to .10 per cent and the impaired driving level to anywhere between .07 and .10 per cent.

A series of other new laws are aimed at better collection and use of child support payments. Hopefully, they will mean a savings in tax dollars for public child support payments.

Two of the bills transmit to the Department of Social Services the amount of support ordered by the court both divorce and illegitimate birth cases when the parent is receiving public assistance for the child. The laws are designed to provide a more stable income for the recipients, create a more systematic budgeting procedure and reduce instances of unreported income. A large number of Michigan counties already use this system.

One of the other related bills creates an Office of Central Registry within the Department of Social Services for the identification and location of absent parents, to enforce their liability for the support of their children and to obtain information from other departments.

Another in this series gives

the Department of Social Services authority to initiate court action for support on behalf of children receiving aid to dependent children (ADC) payments. Aid recipients cannot be required to initiate support actions but under this law, the department will be able to require legally responsible relatives of sufficient means tto make appropriate contributions to the support of children.

One other new public act protects teachers who give pupils medicine. It provides that a teacher or school administrator cannot be held liable in a criminal action or civil lawsuit for administering medication to a student, except of gross negligence or willful misconduct. However, the medication must be administered with the written permission of the parent or guardian, it must be done in compliance physicians's instructions and done in the presence of another adult.

Still another new law permits verdicts to be issued in a municipal court civil case if five of the six jurors agree, instead of requiring unanimous agreement. This act becomes effective Jan. 1.

Awaiting the signature of the governor after its overwhelming approval in both the House and Senate is a bill which would require all school districts to provide educational programs and services for handicapped children.

Edison should not close Belleville office

To the editor:
Why! The state allows an increase in the rates for Edison service and what happens ... they close a substation office in Belleville. Is this what they give us for raising the cost of

The public pays for what? Less service and more inconvenience. The city of Belleville and surrounding area is growing and now they take part of the vital service away

What would happen if we refuse to pay the increase since we are getting less service. I believe Edison should not have the right to raise their rates. First indication of costlier service was the change in hot water heating rates. I believe we the people of Belleville are getting the short end of a very large "deal" ... deal for the Edison Co., that is.

Let's all make our feelings known to our representative from the area at the Detroit Edison Co., and may be they will begin to see what happens to the small communities that are trying to grow. Gaylord Bauer, Belleville.

Christmas angel collection grows

Van Buren Public School District has a collector of Christmas angels.

She is Mrs. Alice Boyd of 3015 Grove Rd., Ypsilanti, a secretary assigned to the Rawsonville Elementary School.

Mrs. Boyd, who is presently displaying some of her collection at the school's offices, has roughly 300 angels which are all on display.

Mrs. Boyd started her collection some 15 years ago.

At the time the plant now called General Motors, was the Kaiser plant where the now Defunct Kaiser cars were manufactured.

About once a month Henry J. Kaiser would fly to inspect the plant, spending the night with his pilot and wife in their home on Moeller Street in Rawsonville. In the morning, he would be flown back to New since the collection has grown so large, Mrs. Boyd resolved to add only one new one each year — "different" from the rest. The resolution has been broken with great Teachers and friends have regularity.

Some antique porcelain angels that lay forgotten for some 25 or 30 years in an attic were donated by Mrs. Eleanor Strobel's aunt in Grand Rapids.

Years from now if you spy a doddering old woman shakily examining "different" angels at an after-Christmas sale, guess who it will be," asked Mrs. Boyd.

CHRISTMAS ANGELS - Mrs. Alice Boyd, Van Buren Public School District secretary, has been collecting Christmas angels for more than 15 years. Part of her approximately 300 angel collection is now on display at the Rawsonville Elementary School where she is employed. Mrs. Boyd started her unusual hobby when the pilot of Henry J. Kaiser, former head of the Kaiser auto plant at Willow Run (now owned by General Motors), presented her with a Christmas angel (tall one) he received from Kaiser.

> "The Emperor's New Clothes" concerns a Chinese Emperor whose excessive vanity about clothing gives the villainous Minister of the Robes the chance to rob the royal weavers and persecute the Empress. The heroes of the play, two mischievous young rogues, convince the Emperor that they can weave robes which cannot be seen by anyone unfit for his job.

They actually weave nothing, but everyone is afraid to confess that he cannot see the Emperor's new clothes when he proudly parades in nothing but his undershirt. The trick furnishes a lot of comedy and a chance for ther heroes to defeat the villain.

The University Children's Theatre has been touring children's plays for thirty years, playing to over 50,000 for holiday children's matinees at the Bonstelle. Tour performances have been sponsored by organizations as Parent-Teacher Associations, the American Association of University Women, Mothers Clubs and the Girl Scouts.

The plays are selected to encourage the children's appreciation of good literature, as well as to arouse their interest in the theatre. Among the plays which have been toured are "Alice in Wonderland," "Cinderella," "The Elves and the Shoemaker," "The Seven League Boots," "Hansel and Gretel," "Rumpelstiltskin,"

So whether you're pre-Christmas treating . or starting the New Year off right . remember The Danish Inn . and the educated advice of this Adventurer: Getupagang of 'cut ups'...head for The Inn...and givem a "Danish Sword"...or mix Pat's Christmas "Soul" with Chef Dick Bensek's Danish 'Sole".. and the party will take care of itself from there on!

THE INCIDENT TOOK PLACE just inside the vestibule of BEAU-J'S, 13090 Inkster Rd., at Schoolcraft: A well-stacked young Morsel, the kind who stacks up at Beau-J's, was on her way out and we bumped into each other. We drew back, apologized, stepped forward, and bumped again. Our 3rd try produced the same results. "Just once more, Margie," I sed, 'and then I really must go." But we may just havvanother bump between now and 1972.. becuz every time we met in the middle...
I got in a good word: "BEAU-J'S has dancing Monday thru Saturday," I noted the 1st time. "Just becuz they're not here on Sundaze, they serve extra big portions all week," I murmured on the second hit. "It's gonna get wilder 'n wilder til the 1st of the year" I said the 3rd . . . time. Margie, why did you run away?? I was gonna tell you about the Entertainment. These are talented Guys. Now I won't mention their names unless we, maybe, bump into each other again. You don't wanna take chances like that! On Wayne Rd. and Marquette there's a billboard that says not to take chances. And that's why I try to get to Beau-J's oftener.. because when you wanna hear an "in" sound.. THERE'S a place on Schoolcraft & Inkster where it's NOT left to chance!

THERE COMES A TIME in the life of each of us when A "REAL" PARTY becomes a necessity. Someone's getting Married . . someone's Engaged . . someone's Sweet Sixteen, and you want her to remember this day all her life . . someone's Elected . . and they're gonna have a Ball!! We can think of Hundreds of reasons . . even more! The point right here, however, is that we also think, immediately, of VLADIMIR'S, at 28125 Grand River, in Farmington. If, for instance, you think, this Holiday Season, of all the people who've invited you to their festivities through the years . . and want suddenly to have them ALL as your Guests at once . . be they 50 or 500 strong . . you'll want to offer them the very best. And that VERY BEST is Vladimir's. On behalf of our Friend, Host Vladimir Sarcevich, we extend to you an invitation to survey the absolute summit of "Entertaining" possibilities. Soft lights elegant beamed ceilings, deep, soft carpeting, cuisine beyond compare . . if the Queen were coming to Dinner . . we'd have that Dinner at Vladimir's! Make it a New Year's Resolution to browse there, and to plan how to really top your Tree of Life! Call 477-8050 for THEM COLONIAL BROTHERS, Nick & John Malamis, have

Teacher, pupils upset with theft of supplies

I am a traveling teacher-counselor for the visually impaired students in Belleville and surrounding districts.

Over the weekend my "traveling classroom car" was broken into and all the special materials and teaching supplies were removed.

When the thief realized what he had was worthless to him, he threw it all in Belleville Lake. This incident prompted the following letters from three elementary students in local

Communications gap: a problem for years

We are well aware that our school district should be a community affair and the failure of our schools lies not only with the administration and board members but also with the parents. For years there has been a definite lack of communication between all.

Parents are kept in the dark much too often. Many parents do inquire about the happenings at school and usually receive such answers as "We are unaware, "We, here at the school are always the last to know!" or "Our hands are tied!" Just how unaware can they be?

For instance: six months ago it was stated at a board meeting that we had a 20 per cent student involvement with drugs. As of Dec. 8, 1971 Article (Romulus Roman) it had risen to 30 per cent have tried "mood modifying substances."

With an 800 High school enrollment it appears we have about 240 of our children experimenting. If this doesn't shake you up, then please read on!

Last week there was a complaint made about students being outside of the school vandalizing buses.

This week (Dec. 8) about 50 students were again outside two buses had been kicked in! All this one 11801 F: letter appeared in the paper saying it

In answer to "Frightended's" letter we would like to hope that the township police are doing more about the drug problem then just "running around in circles."

This community cannot afford to sit back and wait for other communities to find the solutions to our problems. And this statement in the paper, "If we developed a program soon we will be able to help our children." There should be no ifs about it! "Must" is the key word.

Howard strolled off with the game's scoring honors with 27, while Reid poured in five field goals and 10 free throws for 20 points. Also in double figures was Dove Ryer who sank 10.

Tiger are unbeaten

Belleville swept all 11 first places en route to an overwhelming 82-23 victory over nonleague swim rival Ypsilanti last week. It was Coach Sam Vicchy's and the Tigers second straight victory and the Belleville aggregation remains unbeaten on the season.

"We have several returning lettermen back from last year's squad, but we also have a couple of new league foes who are not so bad, either," quipped Vicchy.

Vicchy was alluding to Dearborn's two entries into the expanded Suburban 6, now Suburban 8, Conference. Dearborn High is the reigning Class A swim champ, while Edsel Ford has always been a tough opponent in the pool.

Belleville had a pair of double winners in Kirk Cullin and Jim Ackron, Ackron's brother - Dean - also established a new school record when he finished the 100-yard butterfly in the winnning time of 59.1 beating teammate Steve Rowan who was second in 1:07.3.

The count down for the 1971-72 prep swimming season begins tonight as several area high school teams are engaged in nonleague combat. And while the swimmers prepare to get on their mark, The Daily Eagle is also set to run weekly listing of the top performances.

Dr. Hayner emphasized that persons with chronic heart or lung disease or diabetes and many persons over 55 yeas of age who contract influenza are at excessive risk of serious complications such as pneumonia.

He said they should see their physicians now if they have not been vaccinated this fall. There probably still is time to get protection before exposure if vaccination is obtained Shouldn't a girl whose wedding is called off return gifts? What is the proper thing to do about the ring and the levision set?—Mrs. L.B."

This is all quite improper. The girl should have returned the ring as well as the gifts and the television. As your son broke the engagement, undoubtedly the girl feels very angry and rejected. Try to put yourself in her place. Write her a firm but friendly letter explaining that the expected thing is for her to return the gifts. Your son must work out the matter of the engagement

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: Please tell me if I am right or wrong. I say that most sandwiches can be eaten out of the hands, but that sloppy ones, such as chicken salad or tuna, may be eaten with knife and fork. When I buy a corned-beef sandwich, I pick it up and eat. Am I wrong? Please advise before I have a nervous breakdown arguing with a friend who says to eat it anyway you like!

"Why do we have etiquette books? This friend of mine always serves pound cake with a fork, but I break it with my fingers. Pastries or layer cakes I eat with a fork. I am a traveled person and I think my friend is not. - G.L."

You are generally quite right. Sometimes like a corned-beef sandwich would be much too big to eat out of hand except perhaps at a picnic, but would require, in a nice restaurant or under anything but the most circumstances, being at least cut in half and perhaps in quarters before it is taken up in the fingers. Sometimes it must be eaten with knife and fork. Pound cake may be broken and eaten with the fingers. If it is topped with ice cream or sauce, it is eaten with a fork and dessert

As you are a traveler, you know that in Europe meticulous people eat anything they can eat with a knife and fork that way, rather than taking it up in the fingers. Certainly in this

More than just car shelter, a carport should be designed also to provide storage and activity areas and enhance the looks of house and yard.

The new structure should relate to the house in style and color, although the materials may differ. For instance a well-planned carport of western wood will com-plement a brick house.

If the garage has been converted into new living space, or if the carport is to shelter a second car, it can be placed in front of the garage. This utilizes the existing driveway.

The carport can be placed directly in front of the house, but careful styling, land-scaping and construction are vital to overall appearance.

By Mary Sue Miller

Eye makeup of itself hardly admits of improvement. Colors and textures are beautiful. Performance is stronger-longer-lasting, waterproof, hypo-allergenic if need be Several recent break-throughs overcome individual application problems. For the lovely who claims that her eye shadow "just won't stay on, there is now an eye shadow base. Only film the lids with it and powdered shadow lasts light years longer. A moisturized version of eye shadow base relieves the difficulties attendant to a dry, flakey eyelid condition.

If undereye circles or deeper shade than any amount of eye shadow used, the answer takes the form of coverup creme tinted to meld with your overall skin tone. You pat this on to the circle areas and let it set. A veiling of your accustomed powder base doubles effectiveness.

To intensify color and gleam of an evening, should you seem to fade under night lights, finish an eye makeup with a pearly-pale transparent highlight creme. Wrap this around the entire eye area. What big, bright eyes you have!

Ultra gentle eye makeup remover is last but by no means least. For the well-being of your eyes and the surrounding skin, cosmetics must be thoroughly but gently removed. Besides it is impossible to do a fresh job unless you make a clean sweep of the stale stuff. Be sure you do.

Despite his reluctance I managed to jot down, on my paper bag (the only paper available) some rather interesting items information.

Jon, who was born in Cleveland Heights, has previously acted in "Witness for the Prosecution," "Oh Dad, Poor Dad," and the lead in "Rest Assured." The first two he performed with the Wayne Civic Players and the third with our own group.

She said in her grief and confusion she did not realize what was taking place. How could this possibly happen? Is it permissable for unrelated people to select a funeral home against the wishes of the survivor?

It can happen, but it never should. She had the SOLE RIGHT and SOLE RESPONSIBILITY to select the funeral home SHE wanted. It was terribly presumptious for an unrelated person to call a funeral home other than the one she preferred. She could have refused to allow the body to be taken to the unwanted funeral home. In fact, she could have insisted the body be taken from the unwanted funeral home to the one she wanted. There would have been NO trouble or problem for her if she had phoned the funeral home she wanted, even AFTER the unauthorized call from some

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Our statement last week concerning starving multitudes was not exaggerted. Their plight is pitiful. Too weak to weep, with understandable melancholy in agonizing slow moving daylight hours, homeless and deserted in lonely nights, these pitiful prayerless people await the certainty of death as a relief. Every day, they see loved ones faint. They see glazed eyes, bloated stomachs. They see falling hair, shriveled skin and finally the fate of death; a fate they know they too must face. Mahatma Gandhi once called it, "The Eternal Compulsory Fast."

These starving people gladly grab a bowl of rice for a meal when they can get it. They thankfully accept a tiny piece of fish to please the palate as a change in diet - when they can get it.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S Tomorrow's forecast from the Carroll Righter Institute

General tendencies: Certainly no day or evening to take any chances. You would be wise to stick close to the accepted and conventional. Let others know you realize there are moments to keep mum until sure that what you want to say is

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't jump into some new interests without first studying them well, just because you are an impulsive person. This could lead to much trouble otherwise. Make your plans wisely.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) It would not be wise to try to avoid responsibilities you have assumed or you get into real hot water. An expert could desert you, also. Don't take risks of any sort. Try to build up ego of loved one.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Associates could demand a good deal now but do not lose your temper and do only those things that are wise and necessary. Show you have tact, especially with one who is in a dither. Have fun tonight.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Plan your time well so you get all your duties handled easily and without complaint. Co-workers are studying you, so give them no cause for criticism. Have fun with friends in p.m.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try not to gamble or go off on any tangents whatever and stick to what is tried and true instead. Show more affection to mate and get better results. Practical jokes are taboo right now.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get busy and handle those problems at home. Fretting and fus. do no good. You have to make some sacrifice for the sake or peace, but it will be worth it. Watch TV in p.m.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't chicken out where some promise you have made is concerned, but carry through with character. Try not to rush when driving, or you get into trouble. Take the atmospheric conditions into consideration.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Avoid giving the impression that you are greedy in going after your aims, interests today, or others make a wide berth around you. Help others to straighten out whatever is not right for them. Gain their appreciation.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you are in the mood to lambast one who is a close tie, do not do it, but try to see the matter in a truer light. Then later make kind comments. Do whatever will make your health more robust.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) That plan you have requires proper preparation before you can make it work to your benefit. Then you start work on it in the morning. Listen to the voice of your intuition which can be very helpful.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do not take chances with new acquaintances who might have an eye on your assets. but be loyal to those who are tried and true. Avoid going to parties that could not be your kind at all. Early to bed in p.m.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Use wisdom today and do nothing that could ruin your reputation you have so carefully built up. Make sure you pay any indebtedness quickly and avoid further expense. Build up your credit rating.

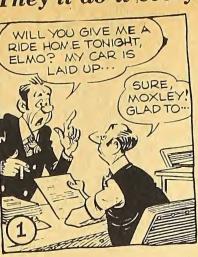

If your child is born today he or she will be one of those charming people who gets many varied ideas, but could easily jump from one to the other without ever competing any of them, thereby losing out at the time when success could come. Teach early to be steadfast and to complete what is once started. Imports and exports, travel, etc., are fine
